Disability Forum and Peterborough Council for Voluntary Service (PCVS): On a mission to reduce social isolation

The issue of social isolation is receiving increasing attention from health and social care professionals, the voluntary sector, community-based organisations and local authorities.

One reason for this is the negative impact that social isolation is known to have on individual health and wellbeing at different stages of life. As a result, social isolation brings significant costs to health and social care services. There are also links between inequality, social isolation and health: this is because many factors associated with social isolation are unequally distributed in society.

Transport, it can be argued, is one of the single biggest barriers to tackling social isolation.

Poor transport can contribute significantly to isolation. In older age driving skills and income levels decline, resulting in accessible transport being identified as a risk factor for social isolation. For those with mobility problems, a physical disability or with poor mental health use of public transport may prove problematic. Poor transport links may also restrict access to ongoing education, training, employment and to shops and amenities.

Are you someone or do you know someone who relies on public transport? Would more accessible and affordable transport encourage you to get out of the house more?

Would more 'community' centred transport services give you confidence to take part in health and well-being activities? Inspire you to enrol in to further education or get involved in volunteering?

We want to hear from you! We want your views and opinions about how we can improve transport for older people, those with disabilities, long term medical conditions, family members, carers and the vulnerable and socially isolated.

Shopmobility took delivery of 2 new foldaway mobility scooters recently thanks to the efforts of coordinator John Fox. John took part in a sponsored cycle ride alongside the Grand Union Canal from London to Birmingham. "We had a wonderful time but I have to be honest it was hard work and more than a little rainy along the way, but it was for a cause very close to my heart and the money we raised has helped purchase two new mobility scooters for Shopmobility.

Shopmobility provides wheelchairs and scooters to enable access to the shops in Peterborough city centre for people with limited mobility. For more details contact: 01733 313133

Success can have its downsides too!

Back in 2010, Julie Martin, Fitness Manager at the YMCA in Peterborough had an idea, and over coffee, shared her idea with Bryan Tyler from the Disability Forum. Julie wanted to turn an empty building in the Cresset in to a community gym! Would members and associates of the Forum be interested in getting involved?

Fast forward 6 years and the YMCA Community Gym is without question a real Peterborough success story. 100s of satisfied clients from across the community, scores of different classes, an innovative partnership with Peterborough Prison and a visit to the Houses of Parliament to collect the 1st prize in the Accessible Britain Challenge awards! Not bad for an idea over coffee and a small grant from "Awards for All".

In 2013, Inspire Peterborough, a project of Disability Peterborough was launched to promote sport and leisure activities for disabled people, families and carers in the city and the YMCA offered Inspire the use of an office in the gym. And that's where Nikki, Gail, Sophie and Kay have been very happily based for the past 3 years. However.....! Success has its price and Inspire is moving out, and the YMCA Gym is getting bigger. As Julie Martin said "It's so sad you guys are moving, it's been a perfect relationship but as Inspire has grown, so too has the gym and we need to accommodate our new members and also all the new classes we offer."

But every cloud has a silver lining. And from July, Inspire Peterborough has a brand new home, thanks to the generosity of Jason Watling and his father David at the Mobility Aids Centre in Stanground.

Jason heard about Inspires predicament and contacted Nikki Griffiths and Bryan Tyler and offered the use of empty offices and facilities next door to the Centre in South Street. Jason explained "I know first-hand the great work Inspire Peterborough does in the city, and it wouldn't benefit anyone for you guys to be without a base to work from.

Since we expanded our warehouse and workshops and moved most of our office based operations above the warehouse, the facilities over the other side of the centre have been unused. The offices are newly refurbished with a lift and disabled toilet and Inspire Peterborough are more than welcome to use them for as long as required." Iain Crighton, Chair of Inspire Peterborough said "It's a fantastic gesture by Jason and David at the Mobility Aids Centre and very much appreciated."

The curse of the ignorant taxi driver returns!

A regular user of taxis in Peterborough contacted the Disability Forum recently to complain that two black cabs had refused to take his partner because she was a wheelchair user! A complaint has been made to the PC Taxi Enforcement Officer. We will update next month.

More new disabled parking bays for the city

New bays are earmarked for Crown Street, Earl Spencer Court, Parliament Street, St Pauls Road and South View. The detailed plans indicating the new restrictions may be seen together with a Statement of the Council's Reasons for proposing to make The Council of The City of Peterborough (Civil Enforcement Area) (Waiting Restrictions and Street Parking Places) Amendment No. 29 Order 2016 together with relevant mapped schedule extracts at the Town Hall, Bridge Street, Central Library, Broadway and Bayard Place, Cattle market Road, Peterborough during opening hours.

Sport England figures show drop in disability sports activity since London 2012

The number of disabled people playing sport in England has fallen since the 2012 London Olympics, despite the Games' pledge to "inspire a generation."

Figures show 15.8 million people play sport or exercise at least once week, a drop of 0.4% since 2012.

Former Sports Minister Richard Caborn said the fall was "disappointing" and a sports charity said the Games' promised long-term legacy had not yet emerged. Sport England data reveals the biggest decline is among people from ethnic minorities and economically-deprived groups. Helen Marney, from the Yorkshire Sport Foundation, said London 2012 provided an initial boost but a long-term legacy had yet to emerge. "Like other parts of the country, we did see more people wanting to do sport after 2012, but we have to remember it takes more than an Olympics games on TV to get people active," she said.

"A lot of the reasons why people don't get into sport come down to the individual themselves. Do they have the time, money and the facilities nearby? "But yes, I would say that the legacy of London 2012 hasn't delivered what we wanted to see."

VOLUNTEERING MATTERS FOR OUR COMMUNITY

Do the rules and regulations regarding volunteering and benefits confuse you?

One of the barriers for lots of disabled people who would love to get involved in volunteering, is the uncertainty of how this leaves them if they go for an assessment or how it impacts on received benefits.

Many claimants, particularly those with degenerative conditions, often find the rigours of day to day work difficult to commit to. Nevertheless, many want to get involved in their community. The Disability Forum contacted the DWP about how voluntary work impacts on continued access to benefits. Below is their reply:

"One of the main things that we are promoting at the moment is to encourage as many people as possible, especially those in receipt of ESA and Income Support, to undertake some form of Volunteering and or Work Experience.

Those that undertake this are not at risk of having their money affected as this goes against everything that we are trying to do.

We understand that volunteering can support a vast number of people to establish a routine, become more socially included and to give them recent experience and potentially a view into returning to work in the future. We had in excess of 500 customers in receipt of ESA that undertook volunteering in the last operational year up to April 2016 in Peterborough alone.

We would advise that any customer who is concerned that volunteering may affect their benefits to talk to their Work Coach at the Jobcentre for reassurance and advice."

Ongoing improvements at Peterborough Station

More work has been carried out to improve access and accessibility at Peterborough Train Station.

The Disability Forum has been working with Virgin Trains East Coast and this new raised crossing is part of the scheduled improvements to make the journey to the station a little easier for disabled passengers.

Hydrotherapy goes from strength to strength

Cllr Irene Walsh and Bryan Tyler from the Disability Forum met up with Karen Oldale, Thomas Booker and Josh Staggs from St Georges Hydrotherapy Pool recently to discuss some of the recent additions to the classes. Hydrotherapy use is on the increase and St Georges is getting busier so staff and volunteers have decided to open longer and add new sessions to the already busy schedule.

Cllr Walsh, who was recently appointed Cabinet Member for Communities and Environment said "Hydrotherapy is so important to people who want to improve their fitness and general health and well-being. I'm inspired every time I visit the pool." Since its opening in March 2011, St George's Community Hydrotherapy Pool has helped over 2500 local people providing pain relief, health improvements, and freedom from isolation. It also offers valuable leisure time for those with learning and physical disabilities. stgeorghydrotherapypool@peterborough.gov.uk
